

Providence Montessori is an exceptional preschool experience. Not only does Ms. Komal provide a wonderfully loving, nurturing and safe environment, but the educational curriculum is thoughtfully planned out to expose the children to an incredible range of topics and experiences. The school is the closest environment to having your children at home but with many more opportunities to learn, grow and blossom as individuals. Only the highest quality teaching materials are used, as children are taught to safely and properly pour, hold, and carry everyday items as a practical skill. Students also learn about geography, math, social studies/culture, language, and music on an age appropriate level. Our son constantly breaks out into spontaneous song, singing the upbeat songs he's learned at school.

Moreover, they learn self-confidence, to take responsibility for themselves, and they develop the love of learning in this beautiful home-based environment. He's learned the traits of good citizenship and willingly cleans up after himself and treats others with kindness and respect- an effect that has carried over to our home life. During work time, students work independently in a calm, peaceful, respectful environment. Ms. Komal has years of experience and works hard with both the parents and children to develop your child on an individual basis. Her warm hugs every morning say it all! We are blessed to have our son under her care.

Sincerely,
Mona
